What's Hot: Michigan hotel unveils guestroom reno

Weber's in Ann Arbor, Michigan, recently unveiled its US$2 million revamp of its 158 guestrooms and suites. The renovation comes on the heels of the hotel's US$4 million of its ballrooms, lobby, pool and exterior façade.

Each room now has a bright appearance with the addition of blues and whites brought in through furniture and new paint as well as updated carpet. Black and white photographs of contemporary landmarks are also displayed throughout the rooms and suites.

Many of the guest bathrooms have drastic updates with the addition of floor-to-ceiling Italian porcelain, custom-built shows and tiled benches, sliding glass barn doors and rainfall showers. A particularly unique feature is the “musical mirror,” which uses a Bluetooth device attached to the back of the mirror to pipe music from the guest’s musical library to their phone through speakers in the ceiling.
